Kosbab named Outstanding Citizen

The Hancock Chamber of Commerce Outstanding Citizen award was given to Arlene Goebel for her brother, the late Richard E. Kosbab, at the annual chamber banquet Friday night.

Kosbab served as general manager of the Hancock Insurance Agency from 1975 to 1984 and was well-known in the Bay-Waveland area.

At the banquet, 1984 Chamber president Pat Harvill presented an appreciation plaque to Miss Karen Ladner, Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce 1984 and Hancock County Soil Conservationist Doug Stevens presented the Young Farmer of the Year Award to Mark Wittorf.

Kosbab, who died earlier this year, had a bachelor of science degree in business and had 20 years experience in the insurance business.

He had earned the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter professional insurance designation.

A licensed agent for property and casualty surplus lines, life, health and variable annuities, he was a member of Independent Insurance Agents of America, Society of CPCU, Mississippi Insurance Council, American Legion, Knights of Columbus and the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

He was a past director of the Independent Insurance Agents of Mississippi, past president of Independent Insurance Agents of the Gulf Coast, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis, and director and past campaign chairman of United Way of Hancock County.

He was a member of the choir of Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Coast Electric refunds $230,827 to customers

BY DENA BISNETTE

Coast Electric Power Association is refunding $230,827 to its members.

According to Administrative Assistant G.L. Sullivan, the refunds range from about $1 to $1,300 and will be sent to 9,822 customers.

The smaller refunds are being sent to residential customers, while most of the larger ones will go to businesses that have been heavy users of electricity.

The refunds come from money Coast Electric made in 1960 and 1961.

Comptroller Conrad Mauffray explained that since Coast Electric is a rural electric cooperative and its customers are also members, a portion of the revenue the company takes in over expenses is periodically refunded.

The amount of the individual refund depends on how much a customer paid Coast Electric and how much electricity was used during the period the refund covers.

"Since we're a cooperative, the capital is used to extend service to new customers. When we get into a financial state where we can return some of the money this way, the board of directors puts the matter to a vote," Sullivan explained.

Sullivan said the nine-member board, which includes Hancock Countyans Roy Baxter, Felix Seegar and James Rester with the remaining six members representing Pearl River and Harrison counties, approved the refund at its November meeting.

The refund is the third since 1982, when Coast Electric made its first refund since 1967. "There was so much damage during Hurricane Camille that we weren't able to give back any money for several years," Sullivan explained.

However, Sullivan said Coast Electric is expecting continued growth in its three-county area to increase the possibility of future refunds.

Most of the growth affecting Coast Electric, which provides electricity mostly to rural areas but includes part of Waveland, has been in Harrison County, but Sullivan said he believes continued population growth in Hancock County will be the source of much of Coast Electric's future expansion.

The last time a refund was mailed, Coast Electric was unable to locate between 25 and 30 percent of the residential customers entitled to receive checks, Mauffray said.

He asked that the general public assist the company in locating former customers who may not have left forwarding addresses with Coast Electric.

Office Manager Doris Wyatt said Coast Electric began mailing the refund checks on Friday.

County fire marshal urges heater checks

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The use of wood burning stoves has caused an increase in residential fires in Hancock County.

Jay Marsh, Hancock County fire marshal and member of the sheriff's arson squad, Thursday said, "During the past ten days we have had two homes destroyed by fires because of the use of wood burning stoves with faulty venting systems."

"The faulty venting from the stoves was caused by the rusting of the pipes due to moisture collected from last year's use. It is suggested that all single wall venting pipes should be removed and inspected before use after remaining idle through a summer," Marsh emphasized.

The fire marshal continued, "If any rust is found on the pipes, it is highly recommended that it be replaced before using the stove."

"On fireplaces and wood burning furnaces, the venting systems should also be checked before this year's use. Birds and small animals have been known to use the vents for nests and sometimes completely stop the flow of smoke and gases," Marsh stated.

Marsh stated.

"It is a good idea to never leave a residence with a fire burning in a wood-burning stove or fireplace," Marsh said.

Proper kindling should be used for starting fires, never used a liquid starter, such as kerosene, or charcoal lighter, Marsh allowed.

"In Hancock County we still have heart pine or 'fat lighter' which has a very high heat factor, and it should not be loaded in a stove or fireplace all at one time," Marsh warned.

Heaters using city-supplied gas or LP gas with flexible connections should be checked periodically for possible leaks, Marsh also added.

Pearlington bar closed after raid

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The operator of a Pearlington bar was arrested Friday night by State Alcoholic Beverage Control Agents and Hancock County Sheriff's deputies for possession of illegal liquor.

A search warrant was issued by Hancock County Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson for a person or persons at Andre's Bar, Highway 604, Pearlington after an undercover ABC agent had purchased illegal liquor there a week before, said an agent of the ABC enforcement division.

During the raid Friday, Thomas G. Hopkins, 52, P. O. Box 344, Pearlington was arrested and charged with the alleged possession and illegal importation of liquor, bond was set at $500 on each count, the ABC agent stated.

Andre's had a beer license issued in the name of Darla Oliver Perilloux, General Delivery Pearlington, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, said.

"The bar was closed by the sheriff's office as the beer license had not been issued to Hopkins, who was reported as the manager and operator of the bar," Peterson stated, adding, beer licenses issued by the state are not transferable.

Hopkins is scheduled to appear before Justice Court Judge Frierson in January, the ABC agent reported.

Hancock Sheriff's Deputy Glen Strong and Auxiliary Deputies Eddie Jennings, Ray Murphy and Mike Anderson assisted ABC Enforcement Division officers in the raid.

In other police activities, two Florida residents were arrested Friday on I-10.

Curtis Newman, Mississippi State Trooper said, "I had the occasion to stop a 1985 Chevrolet pickup truck pulling a trailer containing two horses traveling West on I-10 on Friday."

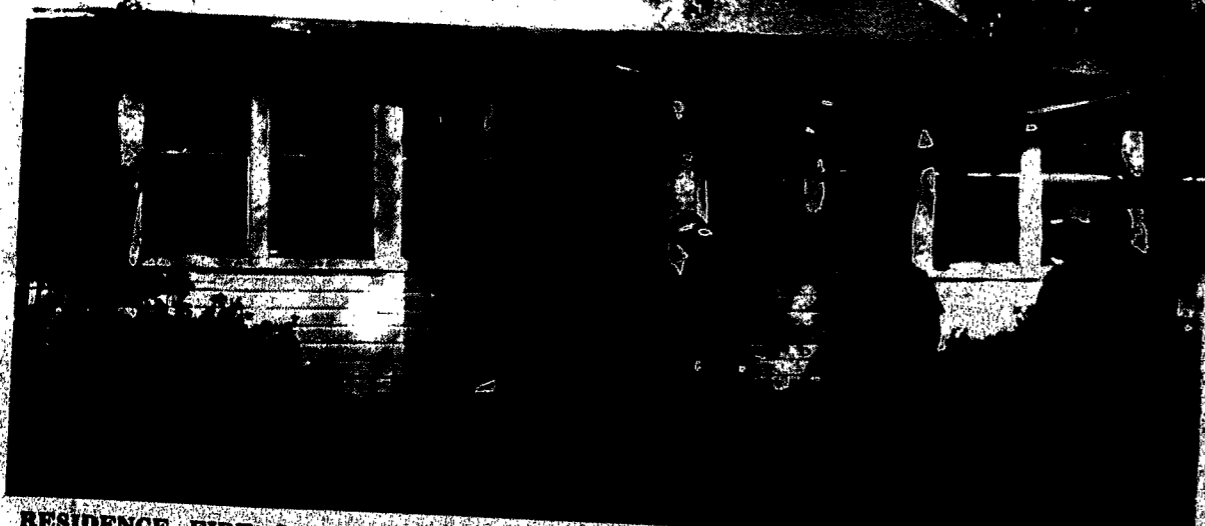

Frederick Purvis, Calahan, Fla., was arrested and charged with the alleged possession of approximately 10 ounces of marijuana, having an expired vehicle tag, carrying a concealed weapon, and also having some unknown white tablets.

Robert D. Hoffman, Ocala, Fla., was arrested and charged with possession of a concealed weapon," Newman reported.

Both are scheduled to appear before a Hancock County Justice Court Judge for a preliminary hearing, Newman said.

Bond was $5,500 for Purvis who claimed ownership to all the contraband and Hoffman's bond was set at $400, Newman said.

Hancock County Deputy Sheriff Harold Heine assisted Newman in the incident.

RESIDENCE FIRE—Several members of the Waveland Fire Department responded to a residence fire in the 100 block of Vacation Lane Saturday afternoon. Assistant Fire Chief Rusty Price said the owner of the house had not been identified and that the fire apparently started in the floor furnace. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Persons receiving Veterans pensions have to file an annual income report before the end of December.

Mike Ladner, Hancock County Veterans Service Officer said last week there were still several persons in the county who have not done so as yet this year.

If no report has been filed by Dec. 31, VA pension checks will not be received in the month of February.

Anyone needing further information can call Ladner at 467-2100.

The quarterly Blood Drawing for the City of Waveland will be held Wednesday at the American Legion Home, Coleman Avenue.

The drawing will be from 3 to 7 p.m., and is sponsored by the Hancock County Blood Bank and The American Red Cross.

Lin Rutherford, Waveland American Legion post commander is looking forward to a large turnout for this final blood drawing of the year.

As you know, Hancock General Hospital has a contract with The American Red Cross as a supplier of blood.

We never know the time or day when we or one of our friends may need a unit of blood.

There are several loyal blood donors living in Hancock County who have donated blood by the unit over the years and now it totals in gallons.

We hope to see you at the blood drawing next Wednesday.

The State of Mississippi will have for the first time a candidate for the office of National American Legion commander.

James Dean of Cornith will be seeking the highest office for a legionaire in the nation.

Dean, who is a judge in the City of Cornith, is well known by the Legionnaires of Waveland's Post 77 and Bay St. Louis' Post No. 139, as he is a frequent visitor.

Both local organizations have indicated they will be supporting Comrade Dean in his quest for national commander.

Saturday, Dec. 15, the American Legion Post 77 of Waveland will sponsor a "Juke Box Saturday Night" Music of the 40's and 50's, for the benefit of the Dean for National Commander Fund.

The dance will be from 7 p.m. to midnight and admission is $5 per person.

We are hoping there will be a large number of persons attending the very important benefit sponsored by Post 77.

It would be a great thing for the American Legion of Mississippi to have James Dean as the 1986 National Commander.

On Friday night The Waveland Players opened its presentation of "Deadwood Dick or the Game of Gold" at the Civic Center on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Curtain will again call this afternoon at 3 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 14 and 15.

We have been told the play is tremendous and are hoping it will be viewed by many. Admission is only $4 per person at the door.

Local Republicans are elated on U.S. Congressman Trent Lott's being reelected a Republican Whip for the 99th Congress.

This is the third time for Congressman Lott to be elected to such a high office and it is great that he is our representative in Washington.

We wish to congratulate Congressman Lott on his reelection and wish him success in the coming year.

ENTERTAINING AT SANTA'S VISIT—Members of St. Rose DeLima Catholic Church's Choir were among those singing Christmas songs for the visit of Santa last week at the Hancock County Courthouse. Among the choir members were from left, Phillip Williams,

WHAT IS CARPAL TUNNEL SYNDROME?

Q: I'm a meat-cutter for a large supermarket and recently have experienced numbness and tingling in my hand. I especially notice this feeling at night, since it wakes me up. I also have noticed a decrease in my hand strength. My doctor says I have "carpal tunnel syndrome" and gave me medicine to relieve my symptoms. Can you give me some information on this condition?

A: Carpal tunnel syndrome is a condition in which the median nerve of the arm is compressed as it travels through the carpal tunnel in the hand. This tunnel is formed by the irregularly shaped carpal bones on three sides of the wrist and a dense, unyielding ligament on the fourth side.

The first symptoms of carpal tunnel syndrome may be numbness and tingling in the fingers, sometimes severe enough to wake a person from sleep. This may be followed by pain, swelling and stiffness, or an unusually cold sensation in the fingers. In the later stages, there may be loss of muscle tissue and a person may notice that he has difficulty unscrewing bottle caps, or even turning a key. A number of other syndromes in which nerve compression is a component may simulate carpal tunnel syndrome.

Carpal tunnel syndrome is often a work-related injury. Workers who perform repetitive tasks that require repeated flexing and extension of the wrist and fine pinching movements of the fingers are particularly at risk. Such workers include hairdressers, postal workers, typists, electronic-assembly workers, garment-industry workers and meat-cutters, to name a few. Since symptoms may not be noticed at work, the association between a worker's job tasks and the disability may not be recognized.

Treatment for carpal tunnel syndrome usually is conservative. Nerve conduction tests are helpful in forming an accurate diagnosis and for evaluating nerve recovery.

In most cases, where pain is a primary symptom, doctors prescribe anti-inflammatory medication. In some cases, a rigid, custom-designed splint is recommended at night in order to hold the wrist in a neutral position while one is sleeping.

In severe cases, where loss of muscle tissue is evident, surgery may be necessary. Most would agree, however, that prevention is by far the best treatment for the condition.

As the case is with most occupational diseases and disabilities, identification of the syndrome and attention to the problem is the key to prevention.

In carpal tunnel syndrome and other job-related conditions, work areas are being made safer through the application of ergonomic principles.

Ergonomics, is the science of designing a job or work station to best fit a person's body to minimize stress and hazards, and prevent injuries.

The goal is to insure a proper match between the job and the worker. Ergonomics draws on knowledge from many disciplines, including anatomy, physiology, psychology and engineering.

In meat-cutting, for example, knives have been designed that aim to minimize forceful exertions of the hand, especially when the wrist is in an extended or flexed position.

As this illustrates, changes in the work area need not be extensive or expensive to be effective in preventing such job-related problems as carpal tunnel syndrome.

Development of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, the most ambitious waterway project in the nation's history, affords new economic opportunities for Mississippi. But there is a danger that the state will miss some of those opportunities because of a lack of proper planning.

That is the conclusion of the Mississippi Economic Council after a study of the potential economic impact of the project.

The $2 billion, 232-mile-long waterway will soon be open after 10 years' construction, but it appears that Mississippi isn't ready for it. In its report, just published, the Council said "fragmented coordination of the project at state and regional levels could be detrimental to the development of the waterway and its adjacent lands."

What the Council found was a good effort on the part of local communities in the Tenn-Tom region in preparing for the use of the waterway, but it found little concrete planning and coordination at the state level, and it found little encouragement of local communities from regional or state levels.

The Council has outlined five steps as essential to the realization of the full potential of the waterway for Mississippi. It begins with the designation of a single agency—perhaps the state Board of Economic Development—as the agency responsible for identifying potential industrial sites along the waterway and developing a marketing plan for those sites.

Other steps include development of a master plan for development of the region, assistance to local communities in the area, development of recreational facilities, and encouragement for the development of an export trading company for the promotion of goods produced in the region.

It is recognized that most of the benefits from the Tennessee-Tombigbee project will be long-range in scope; the good news is that, despite the late start, Mississippi still has time to take the actions necessary to assure maximum economic advantage from the nation's largest waterway development.

From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

Many of you have probably read about or seen on television the story of a group of residents in Tunica, who live on the banks of an unsanitary ditch, affectionately called "Sugar Ditch" by local residents.

I recently toured this area with several of my staff members to view first-hand the living conditions of these families.

While our attention focused on the City of Tunica and Tunica County, we realized that this type of condition exists in many Mississippi communities.

I know there is hunger, poverty, and poor living arrangements, probably in every county in Mississippi.

As we toured Tunica, I saw 17 families, 54 people, living alongside a ditch that carried human waste and potential disease. This ditch floods when the water gets high and frequently this germ-infested water gets into people's homes.

To solve this problem we are investigating ways to clear out the ditch, so that it will flow and carry the stagnant water out of the area. This will create more sanitary conditions and a safer environment.

Many of the homes we viewed on our tour were built of unsound materials, so thin that the winter winds freely flowed through the houses.

Most did not have indoor plumbing, and many did not even have outdoor plumbing. Some had water service that consisted of only a faucet on the front porch.

Governor urges 'Drunk Awareness'

Gov. Bill Allain has proclaimed Dec. 9-15 as Mississippi Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

The proclamation corresponds with a joint congressional resolution designating the week as National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

"Drunk and drugged driving is Mississippi's most serious highway safety problem," said Roy Thigpen, the governor's representative for highway safety and director of the Governor's Office of Criminal Justice Planning.

"It is particularly important to focus our attention upon responsible, safe driving during the holiday season when our citizens travel throughout the state to visit families and friends. The most important step is not to mix drinking and drugs with driving, but it's also important to drive defensively in avoiding crashes caused by another driver who is driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs."

The Governor's Highway Safety Program estimates that drunk and drugged driving have roles in 62 percent of Mississippi's fatal highway crashes.

"Citizens across the state can do much to combat the needless death and injuries that result from drunk and drugged driving," Thigpen noted. He recommended that:

—All occupants of vehicles use safety belts.
—Any observation of suspicious driving be reported to the police.

Heart Answers

WHAT IS A HEART ATTACK?

A heart attack is the death of a portion of heart muscle that may result in disability or death, depending on how much of the heart is damaged. It occurs when an obstruction in one of the coronary arteries prevents the blood from supplying oxygen to the heart muscle. Heart attack symptoms may include chest pain, nausea and shortness of breath. The risk of heart attack can be reduced by treating high blood pressure, avoiding cigarette smoking, observing a low cholesterol diet and maintaining normal body weight.

County declares emergency to repair office ceiling

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors declared an emergency situation Monday to speed repairs to a ceiling in the circuit clerk's office.

Part of the ceiling in the outer room of the office collapsed within two feet of an employee's desk last week and the board decided to declare an emergency to avoid having to wait for bids to be advertised.

The board accepted a proposal from Raymond Thomas for $2,073 for replacement and lowering of the ceiling. The work will be done after regular courthouse business hours in order not to disrupt the operation of the clerk's office.

The board also approved a change order on a State Aid Road project at Fire Tower Road.

County Engineer Larry Seal reported that the change order had been requested after tests revealed that the gravel topping placed on the road met State Aid standards but differed in size from the material specified in the contract.

Seal said that since the material met standards, the board could approve an order changing the size of the gravel in the specifications.

The supervisors accepted Seal's recommendation and deducted the price difference from the contract because the contractor is supplying the material for the project and the gravel actually used costs less than the material originally specified.

In a related matter, Seal informed the board that State Aid Program official George Pate will conduct an annual inspection of the county's State Aid projects on Dec. 13.

The board also heard from Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission. Taylor reported that a meeting with Community Development Block Grant program officials on a proposal to build a harbor at Bayou Cadet is being arranged for next week.

Taylor has also checked into the possibility of obtaining funding from the Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for improvement of the county's outdoor recreational facilities.

He said funding from that area is unlikely unless the board submits a comprehensive plan for the development of county recreational facilities. The board authorized Gulf Regional to begin work on the plan.

Taylor also informed the board that technical assistance for the construction of a new jail is available from the National Institute of Corrections. The board approved setting up a meeting with representatives of the institute.

In a second matter related to the jail, the supervisors agreed that architect Fred Wagner should begin designing the jail for county property located behind the Sea Coast Echo building and the Hancock County Youth Court. In addition, the board employed Kergosien Realty to appraise adjacent property.

In other business, the supervisors accepted a bid from Hancock Insurance Agency for insurance on sheriff's department vehicles. The bid price was $4,796 to insure 12 vehicles for one year.

Also addressing the board was Bill Fields of the Hancock County Volunteer Fireman's Association, who reported that the Fenton Volunteer Fire Department has operated successfully for one year and recommended the department for association membership. He also presented a copy of the department's charter and bylaws to the board.

Bids on supplies for the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department were opened and taken under advisement. The supervisors meet again on Dec. 14.

Pastime brings national recognition to Rotundo

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

What began as an experiment on a slow business day has grown into a full-scale hobby and brought national recognition to Rick Rotundo of Bay St. Louis.

Personalized sports trophies made by Rotundo can be found in the collections of local athletes as well as professional athletes including Hoki Gajon (New Orleans Saints), Jim Kelly (Houston Gamblers) and Tim Mazetti (Portland Breakers).

"One day I was just sitting around in the shop and decided just to paint a model for therapy," Rotundo said. "Things just kind of steamrolled from that."

The personalized trophies are about six inches high and feature a teams' colors and insignia. To this basic team format, Rotundo adds a players' name and number for a uniquely individual trophy.

Currently Rotundo has featured approximately 45 different teams on the trophies.

Rotundo introduced the idea to local schools as a special award for most valuable players.

"My son Alex, is the reason for getting into the project heavier," he said.

"I am making Alex a collection and try to do two trophies of each new team so I can have one for the customer and one for Alex's collection," Rotundo added.

He said his wife Becky is his inspiration and keeps him going.

"The biggest interest is because the trophies are handpainted and numbered," he said.

Rotundo said he had heard of one other man who had made similar trophies but had quit because the work was so tedious.

"I accept the challenge of the detailed work," he said. "I research each team, sandlot or pro, to make sure of the details, even down to the colors of stripes on their shoes."

"If it ceases to be fun I will stop but that probably won't ever happen because I enjoy it so much," he added.

The trophies are painted with a high-gloss enamel, and the colors have been mixed to match the teams true colors, he said.

Rotundo said the business escalated when he sent a USFL New Orleans Breakers personalized trophy to owner Joe Canizaro.

"Canizaro called three days later and asked if I was interested in expanding the business," he said.

From this, TD Figures, Inc. was established and Rotundo mass-produced colorful trophies for both the Breakers and the Tampa Bay Bandits.

Rotundo became the sole owner of the corporation when Canizaro and the Breakers moved to Portland, Ore, but said he has no plans at this time to mass produce any more figures.

"I'm having too much fun doing the personalized ones," he said.

Rotundo said his favorite figures to make are the ones for the high schools because he played high school football.

"It is one thing for a player to get a silver or gold trophy and in a few years it is broken or forgotten but the personalized trophy is that player at one time and it means something special," he said.

With each trophy Rotundo gives a certificate of ownership which says the trophy is an original and a collectors' item.

Rotundo said that 1984 had been a banner year for him not just because of selling 856 trophies and the national notoriety but because it had been a lot of fun.

Because of his connection with Canizaro, Rotundo was able to travel with the Breakers to several of their games this past year.

"How many security agents get to travel with a pro football team, sit in the owners suites and have a sideline pass?" he said.

"A lot of people dream about doing something better than everybody else," Rotundo said, "and I challenge anyone to do the quality of work that I do on the trophies."

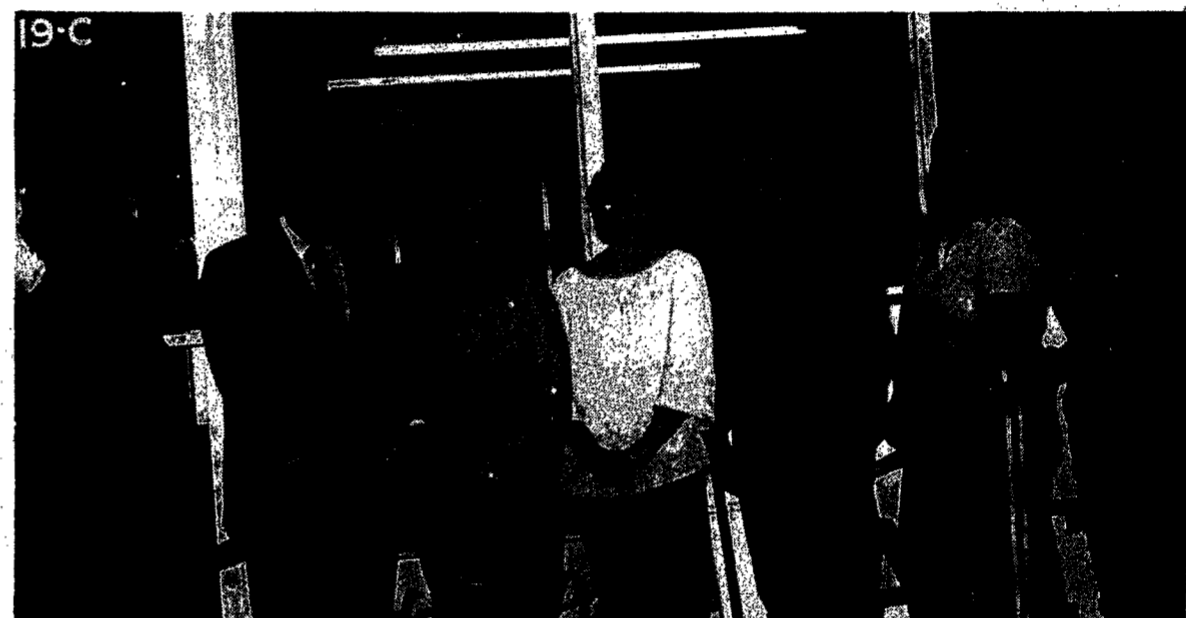

"If someone else can, I'll tip my hat to them, but I won't give up," he said.

"From high school players to multi-millionaires like Ted Turner, I have received words of praise," Rotundo concluded.

spare time and since then the project has landed him national notoriety. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Fire damages Bay residence

The St. John Street residence of Kenneth Labat was damaged by fire Friday night.

"The fire appears to have started from an electrical outlet," Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew B. Lizana said Saturday.

No one was at home when the fire started, he said.

The fire was confined mainly to one bedroom, but there was smoke damage throughout the house, he added.

"The one bedroom was totaled by the fire which went straight up through the roof," Lizana said.

Natchez marks holiday season

'Christmas in Natchez' is the historic river city's annual celebration recalling the charms and traditions of an old-fashioned holiday season.

Held the first four weekends preceeding Christmas, the event is sponsored by the Natchez Tourist Council and involves participation by many local organizations and individuals.

Each weekend a series of special activities will be presented featuring Christmas music, food, and local crafts, as well as special holiday tours of Natchez' famous antebellum homes and historic churches. The weekend visitor should also remember that overnight accommodations are available in many of the city's antebellum homes.

Throughout the city, homes and businesses will be decorated inside and out using traditional evergreen, holly, magnolia and colorful poinsettia.

In the business district, there will be special street decorations and window displays by local merchants.

The focal point will be a 30-foot evergreen tree which will be decorated and set up in the middle of downtown. To given the area an even more festive appearance, buildings in downtown and Natchez-Under-The Hill will be outlined with thousands of tiny white lights.

One of the first events will be the lighting of the community Christmas tree which will be held in conjunction with Natchez' annual Christmas parade. Other special events will be a crafts fair held at the Natchez City Auditorium.

Featured will be local artists, holiday crafts, entertainment, and refreshments.

Claggett is married to Strabo Claggett, vice president of Howard, Well, Labulsee & Friedrichs, Inc. They are the parents of two daughters.

Claggett named to Hancock Library board

Elizabeth Claggett of Diamondhead has been appointed to the Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees by the County Board of Supervisors.

Linda Waldrop, library board chairman, said Claggett is a graduate of Smith College and has served on numerous boards including the Board of Trustees of Lake Forest (Illinois) County Day School and the Board of the League of Women Voters.

In addition, she served on the Board of Trustees of Allendale School for Boys and the Chicago Board of Planned Parenthood.

While living in Illinois, she owned an antique jewelry store and marked the pews of the center aisle.

Musical selections were provided by Mrs. Olive McKenna, organist and John Mason, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white polysheer fabric. The Queen Ann neckline, bodice and bishop sleeves were appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Venise lace encircled the hemline of the full skirt and extended to a cathedral train.

The bride carried a cascade of white silk roses and baby's breath.

Michelle Dempsey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Jo Ann Johnson, Tish Ortiz and Ida Macuick, all of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants wore identical gowns of emerald green taffeta. They carried two long stemmed light green silk roses decorated with baby's breath, ribbon and lace.

Anthony Macuick, father of the groom, was best man.

sey, Paul Macuick and Brock Godwin, all of Bay St. Louis.

Fouasnon—Sterling

Melanie Lynn Sterling became the bride of Alain David Fouasnon in an afternoon double ring ceremony October 27 at the Word of Faith Christian Fellowship with the Rev. Ernest C. Culley officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Sterling of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Fouasnon, also of Bay St. Louis.

Nuptial music was provided by vocalists Rev. Ronald E. Skinner and Mrs. Karl Wilcox, both of Bay St. Louis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory chantilly lace accented with an embroidered yoke bodice and lace leg-o-mutton sleeves. The full skirt featured tiers of chantilly lace and chiffon which flowed into a chapel length train. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a lace caplet and was edged in lace. She wore an amethyst heirloom lavalier belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Albert Biehl Sr.

The bride carried a cascade of ivory and pink silk roses.

Mrs. Robert D. Chalfant of Akron, Ohio attended her sister as matron of honor.

The attendants were attired in gowns of pink crystalite fashioned with off-the-shoulder lace ruffle and matching ruffle at the hemline. The gathered skirts were belted with satin ribbon. They each wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bride, and carried nosegays of pink silk roses and baby's breath.

The matron of honor wore a similar style dress in deep rose with ivory lace ruffle at the shoulder and hemline.

Miss Carrie Wilcox of Bay St. Louis was flower girl. She wore a pale pink dotted Swiss dress with puffed sleeves and similar styling to the bridesmaids'.

of Bay St. Louis, Becky Wood of Long Beach and Denise Hopgood of Bay St. Louis. The production is scheduled for a 7 p.m. showing Saturday at St. Augustine Seminary Gymnasium in Bay St. Louis and a 2:30 p.m. matinee at Jeff Davis Junior College in Gulfport Sunday, Dec. 16. (Photo by Jimmy Loiacano)

'The Toy Shop' ballet Saturday to benefit local Junior Auxiliary

Gulf Coast Dance Theatre will present "The Toy Shop Ballet" Saturday at 7 p.m. at St. Augustine Seminary Gym in Bay St. Louis and Sunday, Dec. 16 at 2:30 p.m. at Jeff Davis Junior College, Gulfport.

Artistic director is Sharon Montgomery Loiacano of Bay St. Louis, assisted by Cheryl Black, former artistic director of the company.

Mrs. Loiacano is a graduate of Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, holds a BFA degree in ballet and operates Ballet Place in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Black is a graduate of the Washington (D.C.) School of Ballet. "The Toy Shop Ballet" has been adapted from Saint Saens' "The Carnival of the Animals" and from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" by Mrs. Loiacano with additional choreography by Mrs. Black.

On a magical Christmas Eve in the first act Santa dreams that all the toy animals in his toyshop come to life and dance.

The animals are portrayed by children from the entire Gulf Coast. In the second act Santa and the elves play with the life size dolls.

The dolls are portrayed by advanced dancers who will be dancing variations from the "Nutcracker."

Limited auditions were held recently by the Gulf Coast Dance Theatre for this original Christmas production. Dancers for this 1984 performance are from the studios of Donna Burke, Cheryl Black, Molly Johnson, Sharon Loiacano, Coast Side Gymnastics and Dance and the University of Utah.

Participants include residents of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Ocean Springs and Biloxi.

"In keeping with our goal to provide performance experience to young dancers from all over the Gulf Coast, this Christmas presentation will bring the Christmas spirit to the child in all of us with colorful costumes, comical characters, and the beauty of classical dance," Loiacano said.

Proceeds of the Saturday performance will go to the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary and proceeds from the Sunday matinee will benefit the Harrison County Heart Association, according to Mrs. Norman Montgomery of Diamondhead, Gulf Coast Dance Theatre board member.

"Because the setting is a toy shop, we are asking all persons attending the Sunday matinee to bring a toy for 'Toys for Tots' in Harrison County—it seems only fitting to share our 'Toy Shop' with those less fortunate," Montgomery added.

Tickets for the Saturday performance—$4 for adults and $2 for students—are available at Anthony's Men's Wear and The Ballet Place in Bay St. Louis, as well as from any Junior Auxiliary member.

Tickets for the Sunday, Dec. 16 matinee at Jeff Davis are also $4 for adults and $2 for students.

They are available at Mississippi Music, Edgewater Mall; Coastside Recreation in Long Beach, and the Heart Association office.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q: I own a small business. I received a garnishment on one of my employees which says I am to withhold 65 percent of each paycheck. I thought only 25 percent of each paycheck could be withheld and that an employee had to get at least $33 per week even if they are garnished. How much should I withhold?

A: When you receive garnishments to collect back child support or alimony, you should withhold 55 percent of your employee's earnings if he is married and 65 percent of his earnings if he is single, regardless of how much he makes.

You should begin withholding immediately upon receipt of the garnishment and release the money to the court clerk as it is collected.

If you fail to answer a garnishment, your company will be liable for the full amount requested in the garnishment.

Q: I am a widow and own my own home. When I die I want my son to have it, but when he dies I want it to go to my granddaughter. Is there any way I can do this?

A: Yes. In your will you can devise the home to your son for the period of his lifetime, with a provision that upon his death the remainder will go to your granddaughter. If you do this then, even if your son sells his interest in the house, when he dies the ownership automatically goes to your granddaughter.

Parents are important link in school network

The chief executive of the nation's largest school administrator organization has called upon parents of school-aged youth to form a partnership with educators to promote learning during this school year.

"Parents and educators have much in common including a deep desire to see students gain knowledge," said Scott Thomson, executive director, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"As our nation calls for higher achievement by students, it's time to build stronger bridges between the school and the home."

Thomson recommends that parents take four steps to improve learning:

—Make an appointment to meet their student's teachers as soon as possible.

—Take an active role in homework.

—Monitor the watching of television and playing of video games, and —Stress the importance of achievement at school and the dignity of learning.

In too many instances parents and teachers do not meet until there is a problem at school, according to the NASSP executive director.

"No teacher knows a student as well as his or her parent does," said Thomson. "By meeting with teachers early in the school year, parents can share important information that can help teachers develop an appropriate learning program for their students."

Parents also can ask teachers how they could help. Teachers will appreciate knowing that parents are interested and willing to lend their assistance, according to Thomson.

"Throughout the school year, parents should stay involved in their student's education, but an early meeting with teachers will build a strong foundation," he indicated.

"Some students try to keep their parents and teachers apart. We can't allow that to happen."

Homework is another area where parents can play an important role.

"Many people are suggesting that schools assign more homework, which can help to reinforce old and teach new skills, as long as it is not assigned as busy-work," Thomson reported. "But teachers can only make the assignment. When students arrive home, parents are the ones who can assure that the assignment is completed."

Parents should make certain that students have a quiet place and the necessary materials to do their assignments. They should also encourage students to complete homework to the best of their abilities and check to see that the work is done on time.

Television is a topic that has drawn considerable attention in relation to student achievement, according to Thomson.

If parents expect their students to achieve in school and gain the most they can from the classroom, they should stress the value of learning.

"Too many adults heap mounds of praise on a young person for throwing the winning touchdown pass, but they forget to say anything when that same student excels on the math exam," Thomson reported. "Parents have a very strong influence on the attitudes of their youngsters."

If parents indicate that achievement in school is important, it's quite likely that students will hold these same values.

UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Holiday overindulgence can be reduced through planning

Christmas dinner has undergone some changes at the home of Joe Green.

The meal once centered around a Virginia ham, but that was before Grandfather Dusty Green found out he has high blood pressure. The doctor ordered him to cut down on salt.

Because a ham is inherently salty, Joe's wife Kelly now serves roast turkey. She washes the bird carefully the day before the meal, after thawing it in the refrigerator. It takes about 24 hours for each five pounds of bird to thaw.

For example, a 16-pound turkey takes about three days and five hours to thaw this way. One year Kelly didn't buy the turkey early enough, so she submerged the bird in cold water, still in its plastic wrapping, until it had thawed. She remembered also to change the water as often as necessary to keep it cold.

After she washes the turkey, Kelly puts a thermometer in the inside thigh muscle so she can accurately determine doneness at 170 degrees F.

From Candied to Whipped

Kelly also changed from candied yams to whipped sweet potatoes to cut down on sugar and from broccoli with cheese sauce to lightly buttered broccoli with almonds to cut down on salt and calories.

To Increase Fiber

To reduce fat and cholesterol and increase fiber, Kelly changed from a gelatin salad with sour cream to one with grated fresh vegetables and from white yeast rolls with jam to bran muffins.

Kelly still serves pumpkin pie, but she uses a non-fat evaporated milk in the filling. All these changes save her time and calories. They also reduce the sodium content of the meal without altering the basic menu.

Now for Joe, Children

When the meal is over, the table is cleared by Joe and the children so Kelly can relax. The foods needing refrigeration will be stored within two hours from the time they were prepared to avoid chances of food poisoning.

Joe also hung a thermometer in the unheated garage. If the temperature is 30 to 40 degrees F inside the garage, some of the food is stored there until it has cooled so the refrigerator is not overworked. Joe also is careful to see the food is covered to keep out dirt. He makes sure pets or other animals are not in the garage during this time.
